1. About Russell Investment Management Ltd

The following additional information should be read in conjunction with section 1 of each PDS:

Custodian and administrator

We have appointed State Street Australia Ltd ('State Street') as the custodian and administrator of the Fund. In these capacities, State Street will provide custodial and certain administrative services to the Fund. State Street has not been involved in any way in the preparation of the PDS and is named only for information purposes. State Street has given, and as at the date hereof has not withdrawn, its written consent to be named as the custodian and administrator of the Fund. In addition to the above arrangements, the Responsible Entity may also hold some of the assets of the Fund, in particular the Fund's interests in underlying funds, in accordance with its licence and the terms of the Constitution.

Auditors

The Fund and the compliance plan for the Fund are required to be audited annually. We have appointed PricewaterhouseCoopers as auditor to the Fund. PricewaterhouseCoopers has given, and as at the date hereof, has not withdrawn its written consent to be named as auditor to the Fund.

2. How the Fund works

The following additional information should be read in conjunction with section 2 of each PDS:

Reporting on your investment
For investors accessing the Fund through a platform, please contact the operator for this information. Otherwise, refer to the information below.
Confirmations	We'll send you a transaction statement each time you transact.
Monthly reporting	We'll send you a monthly transaction statement.
Annual reporting	We'll send you an annual tax statement (if the Fund is an Attribution Managed Investment Trusts (AMIT), we'll send you an AMIT Member Annual (AMMA) Statement). We will also provide or make available to you an annual report.
Distributions	We'll send you a distribution statement each time a distribution is made.

Investing through a platform

Wholesale Clients can invest in the Fund directly. Retail Clients can invest in Class A and Class AUDH units of the Fund through master trusts, wrap accounts, investor directed portfolio services and nominee or custody services. We call these services 'platforms' and refer to people who invest through them as 'Indirect Investors'. We authorise the use of the PDS as a disclosure document for people who wish to access the Fund indirectly through these platforms.

To invest, Indirect Investors must complete the application forms provided by the platform operator. Indirect Investors will receive reports from their platform operator, not us.

If you are an Indirect Investor and you have a complaint about us or the Fund itself, contact your platform operator who is required to take reasonable steps to facilitate dispute resolution between investors and financial product issuers, such as RIM. Alternatively, you can access our dispute resolution system via the contact details in the PDS.

To withdraw from the Fund, Indirect Investors need to contact their platform operator for instructions.

To invest or withdraw, platform operators need to follow the same steps as Wholesale Clients seeking to invest in or withdraw from the Fund.

Indirect Investors do not themselves become investors in the Fund. Instead it is generally the platform operator who invests on behalf of Indirect Investors and who has the rights of an investor in the Fund. Platform operators exercise those rights or not in accordance with their arrangements with the Indirect Investor.

Some provisions of the Fund's Constitution and the PDS are not relevant for Indirect Investors. For example, Indirect Investors cannot attend investor meetings or transfer units where they are not themselves direct investors in the Fund.

Any reference to 'you' in the PDS (including this Additional Information Booklet), unless otherwise indicated, should be construed by an Indirect Investor as a reference to the platform operator or any other person who is a Wholesale Client in the Fund.

The remainder of this section 2 in this Additional Information Booklet applies to Wholesale Clients only.

Initial investment

To make an initial investment in the Fund you need to first contact Russell Investments Fund Operations for instructions on how to invest. You will then need to complete the Application Form accompanying the PDS and the forms contained in the Client Account Manual, which is available from Russell Investments Fund Operations.

Processing applications

Generally, applications for units are processed each business day. If we receive your completed Application Form or additional investment instruction and application money by the 'cut off time' on a business day, we will generally process your application using the entry price for that business day. The 'cut off time' for processing an application using the entry price for a business day is 12:00 noon Sydney time.

If we receive your completed Application Form or additional investment and application money after the 'cut off time', or on a day that is not a business day, we generally process your application using the entry price for the next business day after we receive it.

Generally, we will send you confirmation of your investment within 5 business days of us processing your application.

Please note that if you are investing by cheque, should your cheque be dishonoured you may be liable for all reasonable costs associated with processing your application.

Reinvestment of distributions occurs after a distribution has been declared and therefore the reinvestment may occur on a day that is not a business day if the distribution period ends on a day that is not a business day.

Switching

You can request to switch between funds by sending us details of the funds you are switching from and to, the dollar amount, your name and your account ID. The request needs to be signed by the relevant authorised signatories.

If you are switching into a fund in which you have not held units before, you will need to fill out the Application Form that accompanies the PDS for the relevant fund.

As a switch is a withdrawal from one Fund and application in another, there may be tax consequences. We recommend you seek tax advice. Buy-sell spreads will also apply.

Unit prices and valuation

We generally determine entry and exit prices each business day. The unit prices for each class of units in the Fund are calculated using the net asset value of that class, divided by the number of units in that class. The entry and exit prices are the unit prices of that class adjusted for any buy-sell spreads.

Assets of the Fund are valued in accordance with our securities valuation policy, usually at the current market value. Where the Fund has exposure to certain types of assets for which daily prices are unavailable (e.g. alternatives, private equity, or unlisted property/infrastructure), these assets may be valued less frequently when compared to other assets of the Fund.

The base currency of each Fund is Australian dollars. Where valuations or unit prices are provided in another currency for example, New Zealand dollars, this information is provided for indicative reporting purposes only. The exchange rate used to provide these indicative valuations is the Reuters London 4pm close spot rate.

You can contact us for a copy of our policies on exercising discretions when calculating unit prices, free of charge.

Your account balance

Your account balance changes as investments are made and as investment returns are added. Fees, taxes, expenses, income and investment gains and losses will affect your account balance.

The unit price fluctuates in line with the market value of assets held in the Fund. Generally, if market values are going up, the unit price rises, and if market values are declining, the unit price falls.

If the unit price increases relative to the original unit price at which you received your units, you have made an investment gain and your account balance rises accordingly. If the unit price decreases, you have made an investment loss and your account balance will fall.

Making a withdrawal

To withdraw your money, you need to contact Russell Investments Fund Operations.

Generally, withdrawal requests are processed each business day. If we receive a withdrawal request by the 'cut off time' on a business day, we will generally process the request using the exit price for that business day. If we receive a request after the 'cut off time' or on a day that is not a business day, we will generally process the request using the exit price for the next business day after we receive it.

The 'cut off time' is 12:00 noon Sydney time.

Generally, withdrawal monies will be paid within 14 business days of us processing a withdrawal request. We will send you a transaction statement with details of your withdrawal.

The Constitution allows us more time to process withdrawal requests and pay withdrawal monies than outlined above.

Please note while every endeavour is made to comply with the payment terms for withdrawals referred to above, under the Constitution of the Fund, we do have up to 30 days to process your redemption request (unless withdrawals are suspended), and up to 30 days to pay the withdrawal monies after the date your withdrawal request is processed.

Subject to certain conditions, we may transfer assets of the Fund to the investor in satisfaction of that withdrawal request.

The withdrawal conditions described above assume that the Fund is 'liquid' for the purposes of the Corporations Act 2001. We are currently of the view that the Fund is 'liquid'. Under the Corporations Act 2001, if the Fund is not liquid, we may offer investors the opportunity to withdraw from the Fund on a periodic basis, but we are not obliged to do so. Where no such offer is made, investors have no right to withdraw from the Fund.

Transferring units

All transfers must be made in the form that we require. We have the discretion to refuse to register any transfer of units in the Fund.

Contact Russell Investments Fund Operations for more information in relation to how you may transfer units in a Fund. A transfer may have tax implications. We recommend you seek legal and tax advice before requesting a transfer.

Unit classes

The Fund offers different classes of units. Identical rights attach to all units within a class. However, the rights and obligations attaching to different classes of units may vary, and are set out in the Constitution and the relevant offer document.

4. Risks of Managed Investment Schemes

The following additional information should be read in conjunction with section 4 of each PDS:

Other risks to consider

Investors should be aware that there are risks associated with investing in the Fund. While section 4 of the PDS summarises the significant risks of the Fund, the following table identifies all the risks that apply to each of the Funds (those marked O). Each of these risks is described below the table.

Risk	Interest rate risk	Derivatives risk	Liquidity risk	Counterparty and settlements risk	Currency risk	Performance fee risk	Emerging markets risk	Short selling risk	Leverage or borrowing risk	Alternative strategies risk	Credit risk	Political risk	Hostilities, terrorist and pandemic risks	Market risk	Underlying funds' absence of regulatory oversight
Russell Investments Low Carbon Australian Shares Fund – Class A		O	O	O	O							O	O	O
Russell Investments Low Carbon Global Shares Fund – Class A		O	O	O	O		O					O	O	O
Russell Investments Low Carbon Global Shares Fund – Class AUDH		O	O	O	*		O					O	O	O

- Derivatives risk: the Funds may be exposed to exchange-traded and over-the-counter derivative instruments including but not limited to currency forwards and swaps, interest rate and total return swaps and futures and options. Derivatives usually derive their value from the value of a physical asset, interest rate, exchange rate or market index. They can be used to manage certain risks in investment portfolios; however, they can also expose a portfolio to additional risks. A risk, though not unique to derivatives, includes the possibility that the position is difficult or costly to reverse. In addition there is a risk of an adverse movement relative to the asset, interest rate, exchange rate or index underlying the derivative, as derivatives do not always perfectly or even highly correlate or track the value of the assets, rates or indices they are designed to track.

A derivative contract may involve leverage i.e. it provides exposure to a potential gain or loss from a change in the level of the market price of a security, currency or basket index in a notional amount that exceeds the amount of cash or assets required to establish or maintain the derivative contract. Consequently, an adverse change in the relevant price level can result in a loss of capital that is more exaggerated than would have resulted from an investment that did not involve the use of leverage. Accordingly, derivative instruments can be highly volatile and expose investors to a high risk of loss.

- Liquidity risk: the Funds may be exposed to assets that have restricted or limited liquidity. In extreme circumstances, this may result in delays in processing withdrawal requests due to general market interruptions or inadequate market depth.
- Counterparty and settlement risk: the Funds may be exposed to counterparty and settlement risk. These risks are influenced by, amongst other things, market practices (e.g. settlement and custody practices), the creditworthiness of the parties the Fund is exposed to including derivative counterparties, and the level of government regulation in countries in which a Fund invests.
- Currency risk: the Funds that have exposure to foreign assets will be exposed to currency risk. Currency movements may affect the performance of the Fund.

* Class AUDH uses derivative instruments to hedge foreign currency exposures back to Australian dollars. Although Class AUDH's benchmark is 100% currency hedged, some foreign currency exposures can remain which may affect the investment value of this Class.

- Emerging markets risk: some Funds may be exposed to emerging market securities, which may be subject to higher levels of market volatility leading to higher general investment risk. Interest rate and currency risks may be greater due to higher levels of volatility in the economies of emerging markets. Furthermore, emerging market securities are often less liquid than the securities of developed markets. Counterparty and settlement risks are also increased.
- Political risk: investments may be affected by uncertainties such as political developments, changes in law or government policies, and currency repatriation restrictions on foreign investment in some countries to which a Fund may be exposed.
- Market Risk: the market price of the Fund's investments may fluctuate as a result of such factors as economic conditions, regulations, sentiment and geopolitical events as well as environmental, social and technological changes. These fluctuations may impact on the value of the investments in the Fund which will impact on the unit price of the Fund.
- Hostilities, terrorist and pandemic risks: Acts of terrorist violence, political unrest, armed regional and international hostilities and international responses to these hostilities, natural disasters, global health risks or pandemics or the threat of or perceived potential for these events could have a negative impact on the performance of a Fund. These events could adversely affect levels of business activity and precipitate sudden significant changes in regional and global economic conditions and cycles. These events also pose significant risks to people and physical facilities and operations around the world.

A global pandemic may cause extreme volatility and limited liquidity in securities markets and such markets may be subject to governmental intervention. Certain Governments may impose restrictions on the manufacture of goods and the provision of services in addition to the free movement of persons. This may have a material impact on the activities of businesses, their profitability and their ability to generate positive cash flow. In these market conditions there is a much higher risk of credit defaults and bankruptcies. As a result, this may have a material impact on the performance of a Fund, result in greater market or liquidity risk, or cause difficulty valuing a Fund's assets or achieving a Fund's objective.

There is a possibility with the severe decline in economic activity and restrictions imposed, of disruption of electricity, other public utilities or network services, as well as system failures at facilities or otherwise affecting businesses which could adversely affect the performance of a Fund. A global pandemic may result in employees of Russell Investments and certain of the other service providers to the Fund to be absent from work or work remotely for prolonged periods of time. The ability of the employees of Russell Investments and/or other service providers to the Fund to work effectively on a remote basis may adversely impact the day to day operations of a Fund.

5. How we invest your money

The following additional information should be read in conjunction with section 5 of each PDS:

Derivatives

Derivatives such as futures, options, swaps and forward contracts may be used by the Funds from time to time to: achieve a desired investment position without buying or selling the underlying asset; implement investment strategies; as a hedging mechanism to protect against changes in the market value of existing investments; or to manage actual or anticipated risk.

In particular, these Funds may use futures contracts to equitise cash holdings. The Fund will have foreign currency exposures and may use derivatives to manage currency exposures. In addition, Class AUDH will use derivatives to hedge foreign currency exposure back to the Australian dollar.

Currency management

Some of the Funds may use currency hedging as part of its investment strategy. Currency hedging is an investment strategy that aims to reduce currency risk, thereby protecting or potentially improving returns. However, it may also reduce potential gain from investments. Derivatives including, but not limited to, forward foreign exchange contracts and swaps may be used to reduce the impact of currency fluctuations. Currency hedging may be implemented by us (including other members of Russell Investments).

Leverage

It is not our intention to borrow money in relation to a Fund, other than to meet short-term liquidity requirements.

ESG considerations

The Funds consider the value and measure of carbon and environmental, social and governance (ESG) characteristics. The Russell Investments Low Carbon Global Shares Fund also considers the value and measure of green energy. The Funds do not knowingly invest directly in companies which:

- (a) produce components that are key and dedicated to the production of anti-personnel mines and/or cluster munitions;
- (b) manufacture tobacco products;
- (c) are involved, either directly or indirectly, in the production of the core nuclear weapon system, or components/services of the core nuclear weapon system, that are considered tailor-made and essential for the lethal use of the weapon; and
- (d) are involved in uranium activities according to SIC 1094 and NAICS.

Additionally, the Russell Investments Low Carbon Global Shares Fund does not knowingly invest directly in companies with significant involvement in coal-related activities.

We will divest any securities within 30 business days upon becoming aware that a security should be excluded based on the criteria above.

6. Fees and costs

The following additional information should be read in conjunction with section 6 of each PDS:

Additional explanation of fees and costs

Management costs

Management costs include:

- a management fee; and
- indirect costs (including expense recoveries).

These amounts are payable out of Fund assets and are reflected in the Unit price.

Indirect costs are estimated based on the amounts incurred by the Fund for the financial year ending 30 June 2020. The actual management costs may vary throughout the year.

Management costs do not include transactional and operational costs and other costs that an investor would incur if the investor invested directly in the underlying assets. More information on transactional and operational costs is set out below under the heading "Transactional and Operational Costs".

Management Fee

RIM charges a management fee for managing and operating the Fund and a Responsible Entity fee. It accrues daily and is generally payable to us quarterly.

Indirect Costs

Indirect costs are generally any amount the Responsible Entity knows or estimates will reduce the Fund's returns that are paid from the Fund's assets or the assets of underlying funds. Indirect costs include:

Expense recoveries (including taxes)

All expenses relating to the proper performance of our duties as Responsible Entity of the Fund are recoverable from the Fund, including but not limited to custody, administration, registry costs, GST (less any reduced input tax credits), legal fees, reporting and audit expenses.

Other Indirect Costs

Other indirect costs include, but are not limited to:

- management costs (comprising management fees and expense recoveries) of any underlying funds; and
- a reasonable estimate of the management costs (if any) of investing in over-the-counter (OTC) derivatives used for the purposes of gaining investment exposure.

Transaction costs of such OTC derivatives are included in the Fund's transaction costs set out below under the heading "Transactional and Operational Costs".

Different fees

We may negotiate different fees with investors who are Wholesale Clients. Accordingly, we may waive or rebate some of our fees (or issue units in the Fund) to these Wholesale Clients so that they pay reduced fees. This is generally because they invest large amounts of money in the Fund. We cannot enter into individual fee arrangements with Retail Clients. Please contact us if you require further information.

Transactional and operational costs

In managing the investments of the Fund, transactional and operational costs such as brokerage, settlement costs, clearing costs, government taxes and charges and bid/offer spreads may be incurred.

The transaction costs of over-the-counter (OTC) derivatives incurred by the Fund also forms part of transactional and operational costs.

Transactional and operational costs are in addition to other costs you may incur as an investor in the Fund. The amount of transactional and operational costs will vary from year to year depending on the type, size and frequency of transactions.

The information in the table below is our estimate of the transactional and operational costs incurred by each Fund for the financial year ending 30 June 2020, presented as a percentage of the Fund's net assets.

As the Fund retains the buy/sell spreads applied to investor applications and withdrawals, we have also provided our estimate of the amount recouped by the Fund. This represents an offset to the estimated transactional and operational costs. The resulting estimated net transactional and operational costs are borne by all investors in the Fund, and are reflected in the unit price.

Fund	Total estimated transaction costs (% p.a.) ¹	Minus: Buy/sell spread recovery (% p.a.)	Equals: Estimated net transaction costs (% p.a.) ²
Russell Investments Low Carbon Australian Shares – Class A	0.09%	0.03%	0.06%
Russell Investments Low Carbon Global Shares – Class A	0.05%	0.05%	0.00%
Russell Investments Low Carbon Global Shares - Class AUDH	0.08%	0.08%	0.00%

You should read the important information about the current buy/sell spread before making a decision - go to <https://russellinvestments.com/au/disclosures>.

The material relating to buy/sell spreads may change between the time when you read this Additional Information Booklet and the day when you acquire the product.

Buy/sell spread

The buy/sell spread covers our estimate of the transaction costs (such as brokerage and settlement costs) of the Fund buying or selling underlying assets when you invest or withdraw from the Fund. The buy/sell spread is retained by the Fund, not by us. We reserve the right to change the buy/sell spread for the Fund at any time. For updated information visit <https://russellinvestments.com/au/disclosures>.

Where there is a significant aggregate application or aggregate withdrawal from the Fund or Class (i.e. by one or more investors), the market costs of buying or selling securities may be significantly higher than the stated buy-sell spread. Russell Investments retains discretion to allocate full market costs associated with a large transaction to the transacting investor(s) to ensure non-transacting investors are not significantly adversely affected.

² This is the estimated percentage by which the Fund's investment return has been reduced by transactional and operational costs.

The tables below provide a hypothetical example of how the cost of the buy/sell spread can affect a $10,000 application for units that is subsequently withdrawn from a hypothetical fund. For simplicity, the daily unit price for the fund is assumed to be constant at $1.00 per unit.

Assume the fund currently has a buy spread of 0.20% and a sell spread of 0.15%. This means that the “entry price” of a unit would be 0.20% higher than the daily unit price (i.e. $1.0020 per unit), and the “exit price” would be 0.15% lower than the daily unit price (i.e. $0.9985 per unit).

On a $10,000 application at the entry price of $1.0020 per unit, an investor would receive 9,980 units. These units would be worth $9,980 at the daily unit price of $1.00 per unit.

Application amount	Entry price (daily unit price plus buy spread)	No of units issued
$10,000	$1.0020 per unit ($1 + ($1 x 0.0020))	9,980

On a withdrawal of these 9,980 units at the exit price of $0.9985 per unit the investor would receive approximately $9,965.

No of units redeemed	Exit Price (daily unit price less sell spread)	Withdrawal amount
9,980	$0.9985 per unit ($1 - ($1 x 0.0015))	$9,965

The example shows that the total cost of the 0.20% buy spread and 0.15% sell spread for a $10,000 application is approximately $35 as the investor only receives $9,965 on withdrawal.

Please note this example is provided for illustrative purposes only. The actual cost to you of the buy/sell spread depends on the amount you invest or withdraw and the current buy/sell spread of the Fund you have chosen.

Commissions and other benefits received

We, or members of Russell Investments, may receive commissions and other benefits (e.g. research) from brokers in respect of trades for the Fund. These benefits may flow to the Fund and to other funds managed by us.

Related party payments

Members and affiliates of Russell Investments may receive fees on normal commercial terms for providing services to the Fund. In particular, Russell Investments Implementation Services LLC (RIIS), a related party of the Responsible Entity based in Seattle, USA provides implementation and execution services for the Fund on an arm's length basis. RIIS receives brokerage of up to 0.2% of the value of a trade for providing these services to the Fund. RIIS may also receive a management fee where it is appointed as an investment manager which is paid out of the Responsible Entity's management fee so it does not represent an additional cost to you.

Russell Investments engages an external company to provide comparative cost and best execution analysis on a regular basis, so as to ensure that the RIIS brokerage services are provided on an arm's length basis.

Another related party, Russell Investment Group Pty Ltd (RIG), an Australian company, provides asset consulting services to the Fund on an arm's length basis. The Responsible Entity pays RIG up to $200,000 p.a. for providing these services. RIG's remuneration is paid out of the Responsible Entity's management fee so it does not represent an additional cost to you.

As all of the abovementioned related party transactions occur on an arm's length basis, member approval is not required. We do not see any risks associated with these related party transactions other than normal arm's length business risks. The Responsible Entity has policies and procedures that govern related party transactions. Specifically, the compliance plan for the Fund contains a section covering related party transactions and the Responsible Entity also has a conflicts policy that is relevant to such transactions.

Records of alternative forms of remuneration that is not conflicted remuneration

Occasionally, we may provide benefits of small value to Australian financial services licensees and/or their representatives who recommend the Fund to Retail Clients such as professional development, sponsorship and entertainment for financial advisers and dealer groups, where the law permits. The cost of any alternative remuneration will be paid out of our management fee, so it does not represent any additional cost to you. We maintain records of these benefits as required by the Corporations Regulations 2001 (Cth). These records will be provided to you on request within one month and we may charge a reasonable cost for obtaining and giving the particulars to you.

Payments to platforms

To the extent permitted by law, we may make payments to platform operators that distribute the Fund. Any such payments will be paid out of our management fee, so it does not represent an additional cost to you.

Updated information

The indirect costs and transactional and operational costs as described in this PDS for the Fund are based on the knowledge or reasonable estimates of the Responsible Entity. These estimates may be based on a number of factors including (where relevant), previous financial year information and using information about costs of similar investments or in similar markets in which the Fund invests.

These fees and costs may differ and are subject to change from time to time. Updated information that is not materially adverse to investors will be updated online at <https://russellinvestments.com/au> or you may obtain a paper copy of any updated information from us free of charge on request.

7. How managed investment schemes are taxed

The following additional information should be read in conjunction with section 7 of each PDS:

Australian Taxation

The following summary of Australian taxation matters is a general guide in relation to the Australian taxation implications applicable to the Funds for Australian resident unitholders who hold their units in the Funds on capital account. It is intended as an outline of some of the Australian tax issues which may affect an investment in the Funds and should not be relied upon as a complete statement of all the potential tax considerations which may arise upon investing in the Funds.

The summary is based on the Australian tax laws as at the date of the PDS. The Australian tax laws are subject to continual change, and as the tax treatment applicable to particular unitholders may differ, it is recommended that all unitholders seek their own professional advice on the taxation implications before investing in the Fund.

Non-residents should seek specific advice from their tax advisers on the Australian tax implications of investing in the Fund.

Attribution Managed Investment Trust (AMIT) regime

The Responsible Entity has elected for the AMIT rules to apply to the Funds, where eligible, from 1 July 2017, or the inception date of the Fund (if later). Accordingly, provided the Fund is an AMIT for a year of income, the Fund will be subject to the AMIT regime. The AMIT legislation applies an attribution model where the Responsible Entity attributes trust components of a particular character to unitholders on a fair and reasonable basis consistent with the operation of the Fund's Constitution, which includes provisions in relation to the AMIT regime.

The key features of the AMIT rules are:

- Each year the Fund's determined trust components of assessable income, exempt income, non-assessable non-exempt income and tax offsets will be allocated to investors on a "fair and reasonable" attribution basis, rather than being allocated proportionally based on each investor's present entitlement to the income of the Fund. Investors who are attributed trust components from the Funds will receive an AMIT member annual statement ("AMMA statement") detailing relevant taxation information for the year.
- Where the Fund's determined trust components for a year are revised in a subsequent year (e.g. due to differences between estimated and actual of income), unders and overs may arise. Unders and overs will generally be carried forward and adjusted in the year they are discovered.
- Where the cash distribution made for a year is less than or more than certain taxation components attributed to investors, the cost base of an investor's units may be increased or decreased. Details of cost base adjustment will be included on an investor's annual tax statement, which is referred to as an AMIT Member Annual Statement (AMMA).
- In certain circumstances, income and gains may be attributed to a specific investor (e.g. a share of undistributed year to date income, and gains on disposal of assets to fund a large redemption, being attributed to the redeeming investor).
- A choice is available to treat individual classes of units as separate AMITs (so that, for example, losses of one class will not be offset against the income of another class). In respect of the Russell Investments Low Carbon Global Shares Fund, the Responsible Entity has made the AMIT multi-class election from 1 July 2017, the effect of which is that Class A and Class AUDH will be treated as separate AMITs.

- In certain circumstances (e.g. failure to comply with certain AMIT rules), specific penalties may be imposed.

If a Fund does not qualify as an AMIT for a year of income (,e.g. the Fund does not qualify as a Managed Investment Trust for the income year) Australian resident investors will be taxed on a share of the net taxable income of the Fund in proportion to their share of the distributable income of the Fund to which they are presently entitled for the year. Investors who are entitled to a distribution from the Fund will receive an annual tax statement detailing relevant taxation information for the year. On the basis that Unitholders are presently entitled to all of the trust income, the Responsible Entity should not be assessed on the net income of the Fund.

In the case where a Fund makes a loss for Australian tax purposes, the Fund cannot distribute the tax loss to unitholders. However, the tax loss may be carried forward by the Fund for offset against taxable income of the Fund in subsequent years, subject to the operation of the trust loss rules.

Unitholder tax considerations for resident investors

The tax consequences for Australian resident investors will depend on the trust components of assessable income, exempt income, non-assessable non-exempt income and tax offsets (i.e. credits) attributed to them under the AMIT regime. The attributed trust components retain their tax character in the hands of investors even where amounts are not distributed in cash.

Where the distribution made is less than (or more than) the certain tax components attributed to investors, then the cost base of an investor's units may be increased (or decreased). Details of cost base adjustments will be included on an investor's AMMA statement.

In general, income of the Russell Investments Low Carbon Global Shares Fund will be allocated between Class A and Class AUDH in proportion to the respective net asset values of each class. However, foreign exchange hedging gains and losses will be referable to the AUDH class only.

You may be entitled to franking credits which arise from franked dividends received in respect of the Fund's investment in Australian shares (if applicable). Subject to various eligibility criteria, including the holding period rule, you can use the credits to reduce your tax liability on your attributed income of the Fund or your other assessable income. Excess franking credits may be refundable to resident individuals and complying superannuation entities, and in certain circumstances may give rise to tax losses for companies.

The Funds have made the MIT capital gains tax (CGT) election. Accordingly, subject to continuing to satisfy the eligibility requirements to be a MIT for an income year, the Funds will hold their eligible assets (including equities, and units in other trusts, but excluding derivatives and foreign exchange contracts) on capital account. The capital account election will continue to apply to the Funds under the AMIT regime.

Your attributed trust components from the Funds may include a net capital gain of the Funds, where the Funds holds their assets on capital account. If you withdraw, switch or transfer any part of your investment, it is treated as a disposal and you may be subject to capital gains tax. A discount may be available in calculating the taxable amount of a capital gain where the asset has been held for twelve months or more. A capital gain distributed by the Funds may also be subject to the CGT discount. The amount of the discount is one-half for individuals and trusts, and one-third for complying superannuation entities. No CGT discount is available for a corporate investor.

Foreign income

The Funds may derive income from sources outside Australia. Your attributed or distributed income amount of the gross foreign income will be treated as foreign income in your hands. You may be entitled to a foreign income tax offset for foreign tax paid by the Funds in respect of the foreign income received by the Fund.

Controlled Foreign Company (CFC) & Foreign Hybrid Rules

The CFC rules may apply to certain interests in foreign companies where controlling interests are held by one or more Australian residents (including one or more of the Funds), in certain circumstances.

Under the CFC rules, the net (taxable) income of a Fund may include the Fund's share of a CFC's attributable income (generally passive income) for a year on an accruals basis, even though the income has not been distributed by the CFC. Further, if a CFC or an investment in a limited partnership is considered to be a 'foreign hybrid' under Australian tax law, the foreign hybrid partnership rules may alternatively apply to include a share of partnership tax income in the taxable income of a Funds. A holding of at least 10% is generally required to be an "attributable taxpayer" under the CFC rules, or to qualify certain investments in foreign entities as a foreign hybrid. However, it is generally expected that the Fund's interests in foreign companies and limited partnerships will not be CFC interests or foreign hybrids. If applicable, the Responsible Entity will monitor the concentration of Australian (or Australian associated) ownership of any foreign companies and limited partnerships to determine if any income attribution under the CFC rules or foreign hybrid rules is required.

Taxation of Financial Arrangements (TOFA) regime

The TOFA rules may apply to certain "financial arrangements" held by the Funds. In broad terms, in calculating the net (taxable) income of the Fund, returns on certain financial arrangements may be recognised on an accruals basis rather than a realisation basis, and on revenue account. The administrator of the Funds will assist the Responsible Entity with compliance with the TOFA rules, as required by the tax legislation.

Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act

The Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act (FATCA) is US tax law that requires Foreign Financial Institutions (FFIs) to comply with a number of additional compliance obligations in order to ensure that 30% FATCA withholding tax is not deducted from certain US sourced income.

Australian Inter-Governmental Agreement

On 28 April 2014, an Inter-Governmental Agreement (IGA) was signed between Australia and the US. The FATCA regime has been applicable in Australia since 1 July 2014.

Generally speaking the Fund will fall within the definition of an FFI for FATCA purposes. Accordingly, the Responsible Entity may be required to request unitholders to provide additional information, and report annually to the ATO on US reportable accounts, in order to comply with its compliance obligations under the FATCA.

Common Reporting Standards (CRS)

Australia has implemented the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development's (OECD) approach for the automatic exchange of information (the Common Reporting Standard or "CRS") by "financial institutions" (as defined for CRS purposes) on non-resident account holders or investors. The CRS is also known as “global FATCA”.

The CRS applies to Australian financial institutions from 1 July 2017. Generally speaking the Fund will fall within the definition of a “financial institution” for CRS purposes.

Accordingly, the Responsible Entity may be required to request unitholders to provide additional information, and report annually to the ATO on non-resident reportable accounts, in order to comply with its compliance obligations under the CRS.

Tax reform

The comments noted above are based on the taxation legislation and administrative practice as at the issue date of the PDS, together with changes to the taxation legislation as announced by the Government. However, it should be noted that the Australian tax system is in a continuing state of reform, and based on the Government’s reform agenda, reform is likely to escalate rather than diminish. Any reform of a tax system creates uncertainty, whether it be uncertainty as to the full extent of announced reforms, or uncertainty as to the meaning of new law that is enacted pending interpretation through the judicial process.

These reforms may impact on the tax position of the Fund and its investors. Accordingly, it will be necessary to closely monitor the progress of these reforms, and it is strongly recommended that investors seek their own professional advice, specific to their own circumstances, of the taxation implications of investing in the Fund.

Australian Taxation of Non-Resident Investors

Australian withholding tax may be withheld from distributions of Australian source income and gains paid or attributed to a non-resident investor. Based on the Fund’s investment profile, non-resident investors holding their units on capital account should not generally be subject to Australian capital gains tax on the disposal of units in a Fund unless the units were capital assets held by the investor in carrying on a business through a permanent establishment in Australia. Australian tax may apply in certain circumstances if the non-resident holds their units on revenue account.

From 1 July 2016, a new non-final withholding tax was introduced on the acquisition of certain taxable Australian property from foreign residents. The obligation applies to a transaction involving, for example, the acquisition of an indirect Australian real property interest, such as a membership interest in a ‘land-rich’ company or trust. On-market transactions however are excluded from the withholding regime. For contracts entered into on or after 1 July 2017, the non-final withholding tax rate is 12.5%.

The Responsible Entity recommends that non-resident investors seek independent tax advice in relation to these issues if required.

Tax File Numbers (TFN) and Australian Business Numbers (ABN)

It is not compulsory for an Australian investor to quote their TFN or ABN. If an Australian investor is making this investment in the course of a business or enterprise carried on by the investor, the investor may quote an ABN instead of a TFN. Failure by an investor to quote an ABN or TFN or claim an exemption may cause the Responsible Entity to withhold tax at the top marginal rate plus the Medicare Levy, on gross payments including distributions of income to the investor. The investor may be able to claim a credit in the investors’ tax return for any TFN/ABN tax withheld. By quoting their TFN or ABN, the investor authorises the Responsible Entity to apply it in respect of all the investor’s investments with the Responsible Entity. If the investor does not want to quote their TFN or ABN for some investments, the Responsible Entity should be advised.

Goods and Services Tax (GST)

The Funds are registered for GST. The issue or withdrawal of units in the Fund and where applicable the receipt of any distributions are not subject to GST.

The Funds may be required to pay GST included in management and other fees, charges, costs and expenses incurred by the Funds. However, to the extent permissible, the Responsible Entity will claim on behalf of the Funds a proportion of this GST as a reduced input tax credit.

Unless otherwise stated, fees and charges quoted in the PDS (including this Additional Information Booklet) are inclusive of GST and take into account any available reduced input tax credits.

To the extent that a Fund is investing in international securities, the Fund may be entitled to as yet undetermined additional input tax credit on the fees, charges or costs incurred. If the Responsible Entity is unable to claim input tax credits on and/or reduced input tax credits on behalf of a Fund, the Responsible Entity retains the ability to recover the entire GST component of all fees and charges.

Unitholders should seek professional advice with respect to the GST consequences arising from their unit holding.

New Zealand Taxation

The following summary is a general guide that outlines the New Zealand taxation implications applicable to New Zealand resident investors in the Fund. The summary is based on the New Zealand income tax laws as at the date of this PDS. New Zealand income tax laws are subject to continual change and as the tax treatment applicable to particular investors may differ, it is recommended that all New Zealand investors seek their own professional advice on the taxation implications before investing in the Fund.

The summary assumes that no New Zealand resident investor will have an interest of 10% or more in a Fund. Generally the New Zealand taxation treatment of an investment in Australian securities is not the same as an investment in New Zealand securities.

Status of the Fund - New Zealand investors

For New Zealand tax purposes, the Fund, being an Australian unit trust, is deemed to be a company. New Zealand resident investors are treated as holding shares in an Australian resident company.

De Minimis Threshold

Investors that are individuals (and some limited trusts) that hold a total cost of NZD50,000 or less of units in the Fund along with any other foreign shares (that are not in ASX listed Australian companies) have a choice whether to follow the FIF rules below. If the investor chooses not to apply the FIF rules, the investor will only be taxable on distributions from the Fund.

New Zealand Foreign Investment Fund ('FIF') rules

An investment in the Fund by a New Zealand resident investor is likely to be a FIF interest for New Zealand tax purposes.

1. Investment in:

- Russell Investments Low Carbon Global Shares Fund – Classes A and AUDH
- Russell Investments Low Carbon Australian Shares Fund – Class A

The main method used to calculate a New Zealand Resident investor's taxable income from a FIF is the Fair Dividend Rate ('FDR') method. The FDR method taxes investors on 5% of the opening market value of the shares in the Fund held at the beginning of the year plus an adjustment for any gain on units in the Fund bought and subsequently sold within the same year. Under the FDR method, distributions and disposal gains and losses are not separately taxable. Investors that are individuals or certain family trusts can choose to calculate taxable income from the Fund under the Comparative Value (CV) method (see below) instead of the FDR method. Losses arising under the FDR method or the CV method, if it is chosen as an alternative to FDR, are not deductible.

The CV method taxes investors on their actual gain (or loss) each year from the Fund (i.e. the aggregate of changes in market value, income distributions, the cost of units purchased and the proceeds of units sold during the year).

Income distributions and disposals

Income distributions and disposal gains and losses are not separately taxable under the FDR and CV FIF calculation methods. Distributions and gains and losses are included in the CV calculation.

Foreign withholding tax

Any Australian withholding tax deducted from distributions from the Fund may be allowed as a credit against a New Zealand resident investor's New Zealand income tax liability, subject to the general limitation that the credit allowed is the lesser of the New Zealand tax payable on income from the Fund and the Australian withholding tax paid.

Any withholding tax deducted from income derived by the Fund in other countries is not allowed as a credit against a New Zealand resident investor's New Zealand tax liability.

General

This information is of a very general nature and New Zealand resident investors should seek their own advice on the Australian and New Zealand tax implications of an investment in the Fund.

8. How to apply

The following additional information should be read in conjunction with section 8 of each PDS:

Investor identification and verification

In making an application for units investors must provide and we must verify specified proofs of identity. Refer to the Client Account Manual and associated forms for further details of what identification is required.

The protection of your investments is an important matter. We have investor identification and verification procedures (ID Procedures) in place to manage risks associated with fraud and unauthorised transactions.

At times these procedures may cause inconvenience or delay to you. Please remember that the procedures are applied to safeguard your investments.

In addition, under Anti-Money Laundering and Counter Terrorism Financing legislation, we are required to establish and enforce appropriate risk control programs with accompanying ID Procedures. The procedures require investors to provide satisfactory proof of identity which must be verified before an application for units can be accepted. The ID Procedures may also require us, from time to time, to re-verify that information or request additional identification, or related information, from you before we can process a requested transaction on your behalf.

As noted in section 7 'How managed investment schemes are taxed', the Responsible Entity may be required to request unitholders to provide additional information in order to comply with FATCA and CRS compliance obligations.

We do not accept any liability for any loss you may incur (whether by delay in acceptance of an application; transaction processing or otherwise), arising from the application of our ID Procedures.

If you invest in the Fund through a platform, you will need to comply with your platform operator's investor identification and verification procedures.

9. Other Information

Our legal relationship with investors

The Fund's Constitution provides the framework for the operation of the Fund, and together with the PDS and the Corporations Act 2001, sets out our relationship with investors. A copy of the Fund's Constitution is available free of charge on request.

However, remember that when you invest through a platform you do not become an investor in the Fund.

Some of the provisions in the Fund's Constitution are discussed elsewhere in the PDS. Others relate to:

- how we must calculate unit prices
- our powers – which are very broad – and how and when we exercise them
- our ability to refuse applications and transfers
- calling, attending and voting at investor meetings
- when we are not liable to investors
- changing the Constitution
- when we can terminate the Fund or retire as Responsible Entity, and what happens if we do (if we terminate the Fund, investors share the net proceeds from us selling the underlying assets).

We are not liable for any loss unless we fail to comply with our duties under the Corporations Act 2001. An investor's liability is limited by the Constitution to the value of their units, however this position has not yet been fully tested in Australian courts.

We may change the terms of the PDS, but will notify investors of any material changes.

Compliance Plan and Compliance Committee

The Fund has a compliance plan which describes the measures that we undertake to ensure compliance with the Corporations Act 2001 and the Fund's Constitution. A Compliance Committee with a majority of independent members has been established by us to oversee compliance with the Fund's Constitution and the Corporations Act 2001.
