1. About Russell Investment Management Ltd

The following additional information should be read in conjunction with section 1 of each PDS:

Investment managers

We may appoint a number of different money managers (including other members of Russell Investments) (each an “investment manager”) to manage some or all of the assets of the Fund. We may also manage the Fund’s assets ourselves and/ or the Fund may invest in managed investment schemes managed by RIM, third party investment managers or other members of Russell Investments, established in Australia or in other jurisdictions (“underlying funds”).

Additional information on investment managers and underlying funds is set out on our website at <https://russellinvestments.com/au>.

Custodian and administrator

We have appointed State Street Australia Ltd (“State Street”) as the custodian and administrator of the Fund. In these capacities, State Street will provide custodial and certain administrative services to the Fund. State Street has not been involved in any way in the preparation of the PDS and is named only for information purposes. State Street has given, and as at the date hereof, has not withdrawn its written consent to be named as the custodian and administrator of the Fund. In addition to the above arrangements, the Responsible Entity may also hold some of the assets of the Fund, in particular the Fund’s interests in underlying funds, in accordance with its licence and the terms of the Constitution.

Auditors

The Fund and the compliance plan for the Fund are required to be audited annually. We have appointed PricewaterhouseCoopers as auditor to the Fund. PricewaterhouseCoopers has given, and as at the date hereof, has not withdrawn its written consent to be named as auditor to the Fund.

You should read the important information about ‘the investment managers’ before making a decision - go to <https://russellinvestments.com/au> for more information in relation to the investment managers.

The material relating to the investment managers may change between the time when you read this Additional Information Booklet and the day when you acquire the product.

2. How the Fund works

The following additional information should be read in conjunction with section 2 of each PDS:

Reporting on your investment
For investors accessing the Fund through a platform, please contact the operator for this information. Otherwise, refer to the information below.
Confirmations	We'll send you a transaction statement each time you transact.
Monthly reporting	We'll send you a monthly transaction statement.
Annual reporting	We'll send you an annual tax statement (if the Fund is an Attribution Managed Investment Trust (AMIT), we'll send you an AMIT Member Annual Statement (AMMA Statement). We will also provide or make available to you an annual report.
Distributions	We'll send you a distribution statement each time a distribution is made.

Investing through a platform

You can invest in units of the Fund through master trusts, wrap accounts, investor directed portfolio services and nominee or custody services. We call these services 'platforms' and refer to people who invest through them as 'Indirect Investors'. We authorise the use of the PDS as a disclosure document for people who wish to access the Fund indirectly through these platforms.

Indirect Investors must complete the application forms provided by the platform operator. Indirect Investors will receive reports from their platform operator, not us.

If you are an Indirect Investor, your first point of contact is generally the operator of your platform.

If you are a retail investor and you have a complaint about the Fund itself, you can access our dispute resolution system via the contact details in the PDS. Alternatively, you can contact your platform operator who is required to take reasonable steps to facilitate dispute resolution between investors and financial product issuers, such as RIM.

To withdraw from a Fund, Indirect Investors need to contact their platform operator for instructions.

To invest or withdraw, platform operators need to follow the same steps as Wholesale Clients seeking to invest in or withdraw from a Fund.

Indirect Investors do not themselves become investors in the Fund. Instead it is generally the platform operator who invests on behalf of Indirect Investors and who has the rights of an investor in the Fund. Platform operators exercise those rights or not in accordance with their arrangements with the Indirect Investor.

Some provisions of the Fund Constitution and the PDS are not relevant for Indirect Investors. For example, Indirect Investors cannot attend investor meetings or transfer units where they are not themselves investors in the Fund.

Any reference to 'you' in the PDS (including this Additional Information Booklet), unless otherwise indicated, should be construed by an Indirect Investor as a reference to the platform operator or any other person who is a Wholesale Client in the Fund.

The remainder of this section 2 in this Additional Information Booklet applies to Wholesale Clients only.

Initial investment

To make an initial investment in the Fund you need to first contact Russell Investments Fund Operations for instructions on how to invest. You will then need to complete the Application Form accompanying the PDS and the forms contained in the Client Account Manual, which is available from Russell Investments Fund Operations.

Processing applications

Generally, applications for units are processed each business day. If we receive your completed Application Form or additional investment instruction and application money by the 'cut off time' on a business day, we will generally process your application using the entry price for that business day. The 'cut off time' for processing an application using the entry price for a business day is 12:00 noon Sydney time.

If we receive your completed Application Form or additional investment and application money after the 'cut off time', or on a day that is not a business day, we generally process your application using the entry price for the next business day.

Generally, we will send you confirmation of your investment within 5 business days of us processing your application.

Reinvestment of distributions occurs after a distribution has been declared and therefore the reinvestment may occur on a day that is not a business day if the distribution period ends on a day that is not a business day.

Switching

You can request to switch between Funds by sending us details of the Funds you are switching from and to, the dollar amount, your name and your account ID. The request needs to be signed by the relevant authorised signatures.

If you are switching into a Fund in which you have not held units before, you will need to fill out the Application Form that accompanies the PDS for the relevant Fund.

As a switch is a withdrawal from one Fund and application in another, there may be tax consequences. We recommend you seek tax advice. Buy-sell spreads will also apply.

Unit prices and valuation

We generally determine entry and exit prices each business day. The unit prices for each class of units in the Fund are calculated using the net asset value of that class, divided by the number of units in that class. The entry and exit prices are the unit prices of that class adjusted for any buy-sell spreads.

Assets of a Fund are valued in accordance with our securities valuation policy, usually at the current market value. Where the Fund has exposure to certain types of assets for which daily prices are unavailable (e.g. alternatives, private equity, or unlisted property/infrastructure), these assets may be valued less frequently when compared to other assets of the Fund.

You can contact us for a copy of our policies on exercising discretions when calculating unit prices, free of charge.

Your account balance

Your account balance changes as investments are made and as investment returns are added. Fees, taxes, expenses, income and investment gains and losses will affect your account balance.

The unit price fluctuates in line with the market value of assets held in the Fund. Generally, if market values are going up, the unit price rises, and if market values are declining, the unit price falls.

If the unit price increases relative to the original unit price at which you received your units, you have made an investment gain and your account balance rises accordingly. If the unit price decreases, you have made an investment loss and your account balance will fall.

Making a withdrawal

To withdraw your money, you need to contact Russell Investments Fund Operations.

Generally, withdrawal requests are processed each business day. If we receive a withdrawal request by the 'cut off time' on a business day, we will generally process the request using the exit price for that business day. If we receive a request after the 'cut off time' or on a day that is not a business day, we will generally process the request using the exit price for the next business day after we receive it.

The 'cut off time' is 12:00 noon Sydney time.

Generally, withdrawal monies will be paid within 14 business days of us processing a withdrawal request. We will send you a transaction statement with details of your withdrawal.

The Constitution allows us more time to process withdrawal requests and pay withdrawal monies than outlined above.

Please note while every endeavour is made to comply with the payment terms for withdrawals referred to above, under the Constitution of each Fund, we do have up to 30 days to process your redemption request (unless withdrawals are suspended), and up to 30 days to pay the withdrawal monies after the date your withdrawal request is processed.

Subject to certain conditions, we may transfer assets of the Fund to the investor in satisfaction of that withdrawal request.

The withdrawal conditions described above assume that the Fund is 'liquid' for the purposes of the Corporations Act 2001. We are currently of the view that the Funds are 'liquid'. Under the Corporations Act 2001, if a Fund is not liquid, we may offer investors the opportunity to withdraw from the Fund on a periodic basis, but we are not obliged to do so. Where no such offer is made, investors have no right to withdraw from the Fund.

Transferring units

All transfers must be made in the form that we require. We have the discretion to refuse to register any transfer of units in the Fund.

Contact Russell Investments Fund Operations for more information in relation to how you may transfer units in a Fund. A transfer may have tax implications. We recommend you seek legal and tax advice before requesting a transfer.

Unit classes

The Fund may offer different classes of units. Identical rights attach to all units within a class. However, the rights and obligations attaching to different classes of units may vary, and are set out in the Constitution and the relevant offer document.

4. Risks of managed investment schemes

The following additional information should be read in conjunction with section 4 of each PDS:

Other risks to consider

Investors should be aware that there are risks associated with investing in a Fund. While section 4 of each PDS summarises the significant risks for each Fund, the following table identifies all the risks that apply to each of the Funds. Each of these risks is described below the table.

Risk	Interest rate risk	Derivatives risk	Liquidity risk	Counterparty and settlements risk	Currency risk	Performance fee risk	Emerging Markets risk	Short Selling risk	Leverage or borrowing risk	Alternative Strategies Risk	Credit Risk	Political risk	Market risk	Underlying funds' absence of regulatory oversight
Russell Investments Portfolio Series – Conservative	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
Russell Investments Portfolio Series – Balanced	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
Russell Investments Portfolio Series – Growth	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓

Other risks to consider

Investors should be aware that the following risks may exist for the Fund;

- Interest rate risk: some Funds may be sensitive to movements in domestic and international interest rates. Generally, the value of fixed income securities will change inversely with changes in interest rates. As interest rates rise, the market value of fixed income securities tends to decrease, and vice versa.
- Derivatives risk: some Funds may be exposed to exchange-traded and over-the-counter derivative instruments including but not limited to currency forwards and swaps, interest rate and total return swaps and futures and options. Derivatives usually derive their value from the value of a physical asset, interest rate, exchange rate or market index. They can be used to manage certain risks in investment portfolios; however, they can also expose a portfolio to additional risks. A risk, though not unique to derivatives, includes the possibility that the position is difficult or costly to reverse. In addition, there is a risk of an adverse movement relative to the asset, interest rate, exchange rate or index underlying the derivative, as derivatives do not always perfectly or even highly correlate or track the value of the assets, rates or indices they are designed to track.

A derivative contract may involve leverage i.e. it provides exposure to a potential gain or loss from a change in the level of the market price of a security, currency or basket index in a notional amount that exceeds the amount of cash or assets required to establish or maintain the derivative contract. Consequently, an adverse change in the relevant price level can result in a loss of capital that is more exaggerated than would have resulted from an investment that did not involve the use of leverage. Accordingly, derivative instruments can be highly volatile and expose investors to a high risk of loss.

- Liquidity risk: some Funds may be exposed to assets including other managed investment schemes that have restricted or limited liquidity. In extreme circumstances, this may result in delays in processing withdrawal requests due to general market interruptions or inadequate market depth.
- Counterparty and settlement risk: some Funds may be exposed to counterparty and settlement risk. These risks are influenced by, amongst other things, market practices (e.g. settlement and custody practices), the creditworthiness of the parties a Fund is exposed to including derivative counterparties, and the level of government regulation in countries in which a Fund invests.
- Currency risk: the Funds that have exposure to foreign assets will be exposed to currency risk. Currency movements may affect the performance of these Funds. Some Funds may use currency hedging programs. For the Funds that are identified as fully hedged, although the benchmark is to be 100% currency hedged, some foreign currency exposure can remain, which may affect the investment values of these Funds.
- Performance fee risk: performance fees may be charged by us or by an underlying investment manager or underlying fund. Performance fees are based on realised and unrealised gains. Therefore, a performance fee may be paid on unrealised gains that may never subsequently be realised. In addition, performance fees may provide an incentive to make investments that carry more risk than those made in the absence of a performance fee.
- Emerging markets risk: the Funds exposed to emerging market securities may be subject to higher levels of market volatility leading to higher general investment risk. Interest rate and currency risks may be greater due to higher levels of volatility in the economies of emerging markets. Furthermore, emerging market securities are often less liquid than the securities of developed markets. Counterparty and settlement risks are also increased.
- Short selling risk: some Funds may be exposed to short selling. This is where an asset is sold that the investor does not actually own, with the aim of gains being made if the asset's price falls, and can be bought back later at a lower price. Short selling involves a higher level of risk than normal investment in shares. This is because when the underlying fund invests in shares the maximum loss is generally limited to the amount invested. With short positions, there is theoretically no limit on the loss because the loss will continue to increase as the price of the share increases.
- Leverage or borrowing risk: some Funds may be exposed to leverage or borrowing strategies that can magnify both gains and losses on investment returns. Money borrowed will be subject to interest and other costs, which may or may not exceed the income received from the instruments purchased with borrowed funds. Leverage creates an opportunity for greater returns, but at the same time, may significantly increase the risk of your investment in a Fund.
- Alternative strategies risk: some Funds may have exposure to alternative investments. There are potentially increased risks inherent in alternative investments. These may include a higher exposure to counterparty and settlement risk, liquidity risk, short selling risk, and more leverage than traditional investment strategies.
- Credit risk: some Funds may be exposed to credit risk. Credit risk refers to the issuer of a debt instrument or banks holding cash deposits failing to meet an obligation to pay periodic interest, to repay the principal sum at maturity or to otherwise honour its obligations. Unrated or low grade debt securities are generally subject to greater risk of loss of principal and interest than higher rated securities.
- Political risk: investments may be affected by uncertainties such as political developments, changes in law or government policies, and currency repatriation restrictions on foreign investment in some countries to which a Fund may be exposed.

- Market risk: the market price of the Fund's investments may fluctuate as a result of such factors as economic conditions, regulations, sentiment and geopolitical events as well as environmental, social and technological changes. These fluctuations may impact on the value of the investments in the Fund which will impact on the unit price of the Fund.
- Underlying funds' absence of regulatory oversight: some Funds may be exposed to managed investment schemes established in other jurisdictions that do not have an equivalent level of investor protection to that which is provided in Australia. Investment in such schemes may also adversely impact the transparency of a Fund.

5. How we invest your money

The following additional information should be read in conjunction with section 5 of each PDS for the Russell Investments Diversified Funds listed below:

Investment management

As well as appointing investment managers to manage the assets of the Fund, we, or other members of Russell Investments, may directly manage a portion of the assets of the Fund or of an underlying fund in which the Fund is invested.

The Fund provides exposure to a mix of investments through allocations to selected asset classes, within pre-determined ranges as set out in the PDS.

Strategic Asset Allocation

The Strategic Asset Allocation (SAA) is the starting point for all asset allocation decisions.

We may adjust a Fund's SAA (within the ranges specified in the PDS) at any time without notice to you.

We may also adjust the actual exposure to a particular asset class within the ranges specified in the PDS.

You should read the important information about the current SAA for each Russell Investments Diversified Fund - go to <https://russellinvestments.com/au/disclosures>.

The material relating to the SAA for each Russell Investments Diversified Fund may change between the time when you read this Additional Information Booklet and the day when you acquire the product.

Asset classes

The Fund may be exposed to a variety of asset classes including, but not limited to, the following:

Asset Class	Types of investments
Australian Shares	Australian listed and unlisted equity-type securities, Australian listed property related securities, listed investment companies and investment trusts, Australian equity-type derivatives and managed investment schemes that provide exposure to any of the aforementioned.
International Shares	International listed and unlisted equity-type securities, international listed property related securities, listed investment companies and investment trusts, international equity-type derivatives and managed investment schemes that provide exposure to any of the aforementioned.
Property	Australian and international unlisted property funds, and hybrid property-type vehicles.
Fixed Interest	Debt securities issued by supranationals, Australian and international governments, quasi-governments, government agencies and corporates, structured credit securities including mortgage and asset backed securities, fixed interest type derivatives and managed investment schemes that provide exposure to any of the aforementioned.
Cash	Cash deposits and money market securities (including but not limited to bank bills and certificates of deposit), corporate floating rate notes, interest rate swap contracts and managed investment schemes that provide exposure to any of the aforementioned.
Alternatives	Alternatives may include non-traditional asset sectors (e.g. high yield debt, emerging markets debt, commodities, infrastructure and private equity), strategies (e.g. hedge funds, long-short equities, absolute return multi-asset strategies and volatility management strategies) and managed investment schemes that provide exposure to any of the aforementioned.

The Funds generally gain exposure to these asset classes by investing in a range of sector funds but may also invest in other underlying funds. These underlying funds may be offered and managed by RIM, another member of Russell Investments or by a third party investment manager appointed by Russell Investments.

Changing managers and/or underlying funds

We may change the investment managers (including where Russell Investments directly manages a portion of the assets of the Fund) and/or underlying funds of the Fund from time to time without notice.

Updated information may be found on our website at <https://russellinvestments.com/au>. You can contact us if you would like a paper copy of this information free of charge.

Currency management

Some of the underlying funds may use currency hedging as part of their investment strategy. Currency hedging is an investment strategy that aims to reduce currency risk, thereby protecting or potentially improving returns. However, it may also reduce potential gain from investments. Derivatives including, but not limited to, forward foreign exchange contracts and swaps may be used to reduce the impact of currency fluctuations. Currency hedging may be implemented by us (including other members of Russell Investments) or by an investment manager appointed by us.

Assets within the Fund that have an exposure to foreign currencies may be unhedged and/or partially or fully hedged. We may actively manage the unhedged/hedged currency exposure of the Fund. Active currency management has the potential to add further value but can also expose the Fund to greater risk.

Derivatives

Derivatives such as futures, options, swaps and forward contracts may be used by the Funds or underlying funds from time to time to: achieve a desired investment position without buying or selling the underlying asset; implement investment strategies; as a hedging mechanism to protect against changes in the market value of existing investments; or to manage actual or anticipated risk.

In particular, these Funds may use futures contracts to equitise cash holdings. Those Funds that have foreign currency exposures may use derivatives to manage currency exposures. The Funds that invest in fixed income securities may use a range of derivatives to manage interest rate, currency, duration and credit risk. Derivatives may also be used to create net short positions in the assets of some of the Funds.

Leverage

The Funds may, through their exposure to alternative investments, be indirectly exposed to gearing and leverage.

Exposure management

Investment managers of Russell Investments Funds (including members of Russell Investments) may also use derivatives and/or exchange traded funds to manage the asset allocations of the Fund. This allows for more efficient rebalancing and repositioning across and within asset classes than if the Fund were to buy or sell the underlying securities.

Borrowings

It is not our intention to borrow money in relation to the Fund, other than to meet short-term liquidity requirements. The Fund may, through its exposure to alternative investments, be indirectly exposed to gearing and leverage.

ESG considerations

Russell Investments employs a disaggregated ranking system in its manager research process. It incorporates factors that we believe impact third party investment managers' ability to generate returns for our clients. We have an ethical, social and governance rank (ESG), which considers labour standards and environmental considerations. This rank is incorporated into our:

- (a) manager evaluation process to determine whether the investment manager appropriately assesses the risk and return impacts of ESG issues on individual portfolio holdings and the overall portfolio construction process; and
- (b) our overall view of the investment manager.

6. Fees and costs

The following additional information should be read in conjunction with section 6 of each PDS:

Additional explanation of fees and costs

Management costs

Management costs include:

- a management fee;
- indirect costs (including expense recoveries of the Fund and underlying funds); and
- performance-related fees (if applicable).

These amounts are payable out of Fund assets or the assets of underlying funds in which a Fund may invest and are reflected in the unit price.

Indirect costs and performance-related fees are estimated based on the amounts incurred by the Fund or the underlying funds for the financial year ending 30 June 2018.

Management costs do not include transactional and operational costs and other costs that an investor would incur if the investor invested directly in the underlying assets. More information on transactional and operational costs is set out below under the heading "Transactional and Operational Costs".

Management Fee

RIM charges an investment management fee for managing and operating the Fund and a Responsible Entity fee. These fees accrue daily and are generally payable to us quarterly.

Indirect Costs

Indirect costs are generally any amount the Responsible Entity knows or estimates will reduce the Fund's returns that are paid from the Fund's assets or the assets of underlying funds. Indirect costs include:

Expense recoveries (including taxes)

All expenses relating to the proper performance of our duties as Responsible Entity of the Fund are recoverable from the Fund, including but not limited to custody, administration, registry costs, GST (less any reduced input tax credits), legal fees, reporting and audit expenses.

Other Indirect Costs

Other indirect costs include, but are not limited to:

- management costs (comprising management fees, expense recoveries and performance-related fees (if any)) of the underlying funds; and
- a reasonable estimate of the management costs (if any) of investing in over-the-counter (OTC) derivatives used for investment exposure purposes (both at the Fund level or in the underlying funds).

Transaction costs of all OTC derivatives are set out below under the heading "Transactional and operational costs".

Performance-related fees

Performance-related fees may be charged by the underlying funds or the investment managers in certain Funds if they meet specific investment performance targets. Performance-related fees provide an incentive for investment managers and underlying funds to achieve superior performance.

Investment managers may earn a performance-related fee irrespective of a Fund’s overall performance (see example below). A performance-related fee is only payable to the extent that past underperformance by the investment manager has been recovered.

Please note that past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance and it is impossible to accurately forecast the performance-related fees that will be payable.

Performance-related fees are based on realised and unrealised gains. Therefore, a performance-related fee may be paid on unrealised gains that may never subsequently be realised. Performance-related fees are accrued daily. The table below shows the management costs, inclusive and exclusive of performance-related fees (where applicable) for the Funds for the 12-month period to 30 June 2018.

Fund	Performance-related fees (for 12-month period to 30 June 2018)
Russell Investments Portfolio Series – Conservative	0.00%
Russell Investments Portfolio Series – Balanced	0.00%
Russell Investments Portfolio Series – Growth	0.00%

Performance-related fee examples

The following examples illustrate when performance-related fees may be payable in different situations. The examples relate to a hypothetical Australian shares fund with two investment managers – Manager A and Manager B – each of which manages a portfolio comprising 50% of the fund’s assets.

Manager A and Manager B have identical performance-related fee arrangements. The performance-related fee is calculated as 25% of the return (net of fees) of the portfolio above the hurdle rate of return. The hurdle rate of return is the benchmark (S&P/ASX 300 Accumulation Index) plus 2%. A performance-related fee is only payable to the extent that past underperformance by the investment manager has been recovered.

Examples	Performance-related fees payable?
Both Manager A and Manager B outperform the hurdle rate of return. Fund outperforms its benchmark.	Yes Both Manager A and Manager B receive a performance-related fee
Manager A outperforms the hurdle rate of return Manager B significantly underperforms the benchmark. Fund underperforms its benchmark.	Yes Manager A receives a performance-related fee
Both Manager A and Manager B outperform the hurdle rate of return, but they both have past underperformance that has not yet been recovered. Fund outperforms its benchmark.	No
Both Manager A and Manager B outperform the benchmark but underperform the hurdle rate of return. Fund outperforms its benchmark.	No

Generally, a performance-related fee will not be payable unless the investment manager or the underlying fund (whichever is relevant) has achieved a return in excess of the relevant hurdle rate, and unless any past underperformance has been recovered.

Please note that a performance-related fee may be payable to an investment manager or underlying fund that has satisfied its individual performance fee criteria even at times when the Fund as a whole has underperformed its benchmark.

Different fees

We may negotiate different fees with investors who are Wholesale Clients. Accordingly, we may waive or rebate some of our fees (or issue units in the Fund) to these Wholesale Clients so that they pay reduced fees. This is generally because they invest large amounts of money in the Fund. We cannot enter into individual fee arrangements with Retail Clients. Please contact us if you require further information.

Transactional and operational costs

In managing the investments of a Fund, transactional and operational costs such as brokerage, settlement costs, clearing costs, government taxes and charges, buy-sell spreads of underlying funds, and bid/offer spreads may be incurred. Transaction costs of over-the-counter (OTC) derivatives may also be incurred by the Fund or an underlying fund. These transactional and operational costs are in addition to other costs you may incur as an investor in a Fund. The amount of transactional and operational costs will vary from year to year depending on the type, size and frequency of transactions.

The information in the table below is our estimate of the transactional and operational costs incurred by each Fund for the financial year ending 30 June 2018, presented as a percentage of the Fund's net assets.

As the Fund retains the buy/sell spreads applied to investor applications and withdrawals, we have also provided our estimate of the amount recouped by the Fund. This represents an offset to the estimated transactional and operational costs. The resulting estimated net transactional and operational costs are borne by all investors in the Fund, and are reflected in the unit price.

Fund	Estimated total transactional and operational costs (% p.a.) ¹	Estimated costs recouped through buy/sell spread (% p.a.)	Estimated net transactional and operational costs (% p.a.) ²
Russell Investments Portfolio Series – Conservative	0.18%	0.05%	0.13%
Russell Investments Portfolio Series – Balanced	0.21%	0.05%	0.16%
Russell Investments Portfolio Series – Growth	0.20%	0.06%	0.15%

Buy/sell spread

The buy/sell spread covers our estimate of the transaction costs (such as brokerage and settlement costs) of buying or selling underlying assets when you invest or withdraw from the Fund. The buy/sell spread is retained by the Fund, not by us or the investment managers. We reserve the right to change the buy/sell spread for the Fund at any time. For updated information visit <https://russellinvestments.com/au/disclosures>.

Where there is a significant aggregate application or aggregate withdrawal from a Fund (i.e. by one or more investors), the market costs of buying or selling securities may be significantly higher than the stated buy-sell spread. Russell Investments retains discretion to allocate full market costs associated with a large transaction to the transacting investor(s) to ensure non-transacting investors are not significantly adversely affected.

The tables below provide a hypothetical example of how the cost of the buy/sell spread can affect a $10,000 application for units that is subsequently withdrawn from a hypothetical fund. For simplicity, the daily unit price for the fund is assumed to be constant at $1.00 per unit.

Assume the fund currently has a buy spread of 0.27% and a sell spread of 0.25%. This means that the “entry price” of a unit would be 0.27% higher than the daily unit price (i.e. $1.0027 per unit), and the “exit price” would be 0.25% lower than the daily unit price (i.e. $0.9975 per unit).

On a $10,000 application at the entry price of $1.0027 per unit, an investor would receive 9,973 units. These units would be worth $9,973 at the daily unit price of $1.00 per unit.

Application amount	Entry price (daily unit price plus buy spread)	No of units issued
$10,000	$1.0027 per unit ($1 + ($1 x 0.0027))	9,973

1 This amount includes net transactional and operational costs incurred in any underlying funds, where applicable.

2 This is the estimated percentage by which the Fund’s investment return has been reduced by transactional and operational costs. Numbers may not equal the transaction costs minus the costs recouped due to rounding.

You should read the important information about the current buy/sell spread before making a decision - go to <https://russellinvestments.com/au/disclosures>.

The material relating to buy/sell spreads may change between the time when you read this Additional Information Booklet and the day when you acquire the product.

On a withdrawal of these 9,973 units at the exit price of $0.9975 per unit the investor would receive approximately $9,948.

No of units redeemed	Exit Price (daily unit price less sell spread)	Withdrawal amount
9,973	$0.9975 per unit ($1 - ($1 x 0.0025))	$9,948

The example shows that the total cost of the 0.27% buy spread and a 0.25% sell spread for a $10,000 application is approximately $52 as the investor only receives $9,948 on withdrawal.

Please note this example is provided for illustrative purposes only. The actual cost to you of the buy/sell spread depends on the amount you invest or withdraw and the current buy/sell spread of the Fund you have chosen.

Commissions and other benefits received

We, or members of Russell Investments, may receive commissions and other benefits (e.g. research) from brokers effecting trades for the Fund. These benefits may flow to the Fund and to other funds managed by us. We instruct the investment managers of the Funds to trade only with brokers who will provide best execution, regardless of whether these trades are placed with brokers related to us or not.

Related party payments

Members and affiliates of Russell Investments may receive fees on normal commercial terms for providing services to the Fund. In particular, Russell Investments Implementation Services LLC (RIIS), a related party of the Responsible Entity based in Seattle, USA provides implementation and execution services for the Fund on an arm's length basis. RIIS receives brokerage of up to 0.2% of the value of a trade for providing these services to the Fund. RIIS may also receive a management fee where it is appointed as an investment manager which is paid out of the Responsible Entity's management fee so it does not represent an additional cost to you.

Russell Investments engages an external company to provide comparative cost and best execution analysis on a regular basis, so as to ensure that the RIIS brokerage services are provided on an arm's length basis.

Another related party, Russell Investment Group Pty Ltd (RIG), an Australian company, provides asset consulting services to the Fund on an arm's length basis. The Responsible Entity pays RIG up to $200,000 p.a. for providing these services. RIG's remuneration is paid out of the Responsible Entity's management fee so it does not represent an additional cost to you.

As all of the abovementioned related party transactions occur on an arm's length basis, member approval is not required. We do not see any risks associated with these related party transactions other than normal arm's length business risks. The Responsible Entity has policies and procedures that govern related party transactions. Specifically the compliance plan for the Fund contains a section covering related party transactions and the Responsible Entity also has a conflicts policy that is relevant to such transactions.

Adviser remuneration

Pursuant to the 'Grandfathering' provisions of the Future of Financial Advice (FoFA) reforms, we may continue to pay adviser remuneration of up to 0.15% of the value of your investment in the Fund to Australian financial services licensees and/or their representatives who recommended the Fund to you before 1 July 2014. We will pay any adviser remuneration out of our fee, so it does not represent any additional cost to you.

Records of alternative forms of remuneration that is not conflicted remuneration

Occasionally, we may provide benefits of small value to Australian financial services licensees and/or their representatives who recommend the Fund to Retail Clients such as professional development, sponsorship and entertainment for financial advisers and dealer groups, where the law permits. The cost of any alternative remuneration will be paid out of our management fee, so it does not represent any additional cost to you. We maintain records of these benefits as required by the Corporations Regulations 2001 (Cth). These records will be provided to you on request within one month and we may charge a reasonable cost for obtaining and giving the particulars to you.

Payments to platforms – Class B

To the extent permitted by law, we may make volume based payments of up to 1.25%p.a. to platform operators that distribute Class B of the Fund. Any such payments will reflect the scale and administrative efficiencies gained by Russell Investments using the platform, wrap or IDPS. Any such payments will be paid out of our management fee, so it does not represent an additional cost to you.

Updated information

The indirect costs, performance-related fees and transactional and operational costs as described in this PDS are based on the knowledge or reasonable estimates of the Responsible Entity. These estimates may be based on a number of factors including previous financial year information and information provided by investment managers and/or underlying funds.

These fees and costs are subject to change from time to time. Updated information that is not materially adverse to investors will be updated online at <https://russellinvestments.com/au> or you may obtain a paper copy of any updated information from us free of charge on request.

7. How managed investment schemes are taxed

The following additional information should be read in conjunction with section 7 of each PDS:

The following summary of Australian taxation matters is a general guide in relation to the Australian taxation implications applicable to the Fund for Australian resident unitholders who hold their units in the Fund on capital account. It is intended as an outline of some of the Australian tax issues which may affect an investment in the Fund and should not be relied upon as a complete statement of all the potential tax considerations which may arise upon investing in the Fund.

The summary is based on the Australian tax laws as at the date of the PDS. The Australian tax laws are subject to continual change, and as the tax treatment applicable to particular unitholders may differ, it is recommended that all unitholders seek their own professional advice on the taxation implications before investing in the Fund.

The Responsible Entity has elected for the AMIT rules to apply to the Funds, where eligible, from 1 July 2017. The new rules are intended to reduce complexity, increase certainty and reduce compliance costs for MITs and their investors.

Key changes under the AMIT rules are:

- Each year the Fund's determined trust components of assessable income, exempt income, non-assessable non-exempt income and tax offsets will be allocated to investors on a "fair and reasonable" attribution basis, rather than being allocated proportionally based on each investor's present entitlement to the income of the trust.
- Where the Fund's determined trust components for a year are revised in a subsequent year (e.g. due to differences between estimated and actual of income), unders and overs may arise. Unders and overs will generally be carried forward and adjusted in the year they are discovered.
- Where the cash distribution made for a year is less than or more than certain taxation components attributed to investors, the cost base of an investor's units may be increased or decreased. Details of cost base adjustment will be included on an investor's annual tax statement, which is referred to as an AMIT Member Annual Statement (AMMA).
- In certain circumstances, income and gains may be attributed to a specific investor (eg a share of undistributed year to date income, and gains on disposal of assets to fund a large redemption, being attributed to the redeeming investor).
- A choice is available to treat individual classes of units as separate AMITs (so that, for example, losses of one class will not be offset against the income of another class).
- In certain circumstances (e.g. failure to comply with certain AMIT rules), specific penalties may be imposed.

Fund income

Australian resident investors will be taxed on their attributed trust components under the AMIT regime. The Fund will attribute trust components to investors on a "fair and reasonable" basis. Attributed trust components may include taxable assessable income, exempt income, non-assessable non-exempt income and tax offsets. The attributed trust components retain their tax character in the hands of investors, and investors will be taxed on their attributed amounts even where amounts are not distributed in cash.

Investors who are attributed trust components from the Fund will receive an AMIT member annual statement (“AMMA statement”) detailing relevant taxation information for a financial year.

Where the distribution made is less than (or more than) the certain tax components attributed to investors, then the cost base of an investor’s units may be increased (or decreased). Details of cost base adjustments will be included on an investor’s AMMA statement.

If the Fund does not qualify as an AMIT, Australian resident investors will be taxed on a share of the net taxable income of the Fund in proportion to their share of the distributable income of the Fund. Investors who are entitled to a distribution from the Fund will receive an annual tax statement detailing relevant taxation information for a financial year.

The tax consequences for investors of being attributed or receiving distributions from the Fund will depend on the components of the distributable income to which investors have been attributed or become entitled.

You may be entitled to franking credits which arise from franked dividends received in respect of the Fund’s investment in Australian shares (if applicable). Subject to various eligibility criteria, including the holding period rule, you can use the credits to reduce your tax liability on your attributed income of the Fund or your other assessable income. Excess franking credits may be refundable to resident individuals and complying superannuation entities, and in certain circumstances may give rise to tax losses for companies.

The Funds have made the managed investment trust (MIT) capital gains tax (CGT) election, and subject to continuing to satisfy the eligibility requirements to be a MIT for an income year, will hold its eligible assets (including equities, and units in other trusts, but excluding derivatives and foreign exchange contracts) on capital account. The capital account election will continue to apply to the Funds under the AMIT regime.

Your attributed income amount of the Fund may include a net capital gain of the Fund, where the Fund holds its assets on capital account or where the Fund holds units in other fund(s) which distribute capital gains to the Fund. If you withdraw, switch or transfer any part of your investment, it is treated as a disposal and you may be subject to capital gains tax. A discount may be available in calculating the taxable amount of a capital gain where the asset has been held for twelve months or more. A capital gain distributed by the Fund may also be subject to the CGT discount. The amount of the discount is one-half for individuals and trusts, and one-third for complying superannuation entities. No CGT discount is available for a corporate investor.

Foreign income

The Fund may derive income from sources outside Australia. Your attributed or distributed income amount of the gross foreign income will be treated as foreign income in your hands. You may be entitled to a foreign income tax offset for foreign tax paid by the Fund in respect of the foreign income received by the Fund.

Controlled Foreign Company (CFC) & Foreign Hybrid Rules

The CFC rules may apply to certain interests in foreign companies where controlling interests are held by one or more Australian residents (including one or more of the Funds), in certain circumstances.

Under the CFC rules, the net (taxable) income of a Fund may include the Fund’s share of a CFC’s attributable income (generally passive income) for a year on an accruals basis, even though the income has not been distributed by the CFC. Further, if a CFC is considered to be a 'foreign hybrid' under Australian tax law, the foreign hybrid partnership rules may also apply to include a share of partnership tax income in the taxable income of a Fund. A holding of at least 10% is generally required to be an "attributable taxpayer" under the CFC rules. However, it is generally expected that the Fund's interests in foreign companies will not be CFC interests. If applicable, the Responsible Entity will monitor the concentration of Australian (or Australian associated) ownership of any foreign companies to determine if any income attribution under the CFC rules or foreign hybrid rules is required.

Taxation of Financial Arrangements (TOFA) regime

The TOFA rules may apply to certain "financial arrangements" held by the Funds. In broad terms, in calculating the net (taxable) income of the Fund, returns on certain financial arrangements may be recognised on an accruals basis rather than a realisation basis, and on revenue account. The administrator of the Funds will assist the Responsible Entity with compliance with the TOFA rules, as required by the tax legislation.

Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act

The Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act (FATCA) is US tax law that requires Foreign Financial Institutions (FFIs) to comply with a number of additional compliance obligations in order to ensure that 30% FATCA withholding tax is not deducted from:

- certain US sourced income (referred to as fixed, determinable, annual or periodic (FDAP) income);
- gross proceeds from the sale of securities giving rise to US FDAP income; and
- passthru payments.

The definition of a FFI is very broad. Generally speaking the Responsible Entity and each Fund fall within the definition of a FFI for FATCA purposes.

Australian Inter-Governmental Agreement

On 28 April 2014, an Inter-Governmental Agreement (IGA) was signed between Australia and the US. The FATCA regime has been applicable in Australia since 1 July 2014.

As a result, the Responsible Entity and/or each Fund (as applicable) are required to ensure that:

- relevant entities are registered with the US Internal Revenue Service (IRS);
- unitholder identification processes and documentation requirements are enhanced in order to determine status for FATCA purposes;
- specific due diligence procedures are conducted on unitholders in existence as at 30 June 2014 in order to determine their status for FATCA purposes; and
- annual reporting to the ATO of relevant unitholders (if any) occurs within the required regulatory timeline (currently 31 July annually).

The Responsible Entity may therefore be required to request unitholders to provide additional information in order to comply with FATCA compliance obligations.

Common Reporting Standards (CRS)

Australia has implemented the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development's approach for the automatic exchange of information (the Common Reporting Standard or "CRS") by "financial institutions" (as defined for CRS purposes) on non-resident account holders or investors. The CRS is also known as "global FATCA".

On 3 June 2015, Australia signed a multilateral competent authority agreement to automatically exchange information under the CRS and, on 18 March 2016, legislation implementing the CRS received Royal Assent.

The CRS will apply to Australian financial institutions from 1 July 2017. Generally speaking the Responsible Entity and each Fund will fall within the definition of a “financial institution” for CRS purposes.

Accordingly, the Responsible Entity may be required to request unitholders to provide additional information in order to comply with its compliance obligations under the CRS. The Responsible Entity will continue to monitor developments in this regard to ensure relevant CRS compliance obligations are met.

Tax reform

The comments noted above are based on the taxation legislation and administrative practice as at the issue date of the PDS, together with changes to the taxation legislation as announced by the Government. However, it should be noted that the Australian tax system is in a continuing state of reform, and based on the Government’s reform agenda, reform is likely to escalate rather than diminish. Any reform of a tax system creates uncertainty, whether it be uncertainty as to the full extent of announced reforms, or uncertainty as to the meaning of new law that is enacted pending interpretation through the judicial process.

Current reforms in progress include a deregulation review in relation to the Taxation of Financial Arrangements (“TOFA”) rules, proposed legislative amendments to clarify the operation of the MIT regime and Investment Manager Regime (IMR), and the 2018/19 Budget announcement that CGT discounting will be calculated at the unitholder level rather than the fund level for payments from 1 July 2019. These reforms may impact on the tax position of the Fund and its investors. Accordingly, it will be necessary to closely monitor the progress of these reforms, and it is strongly recommended that investors seek their own professional advice, specific to their own circumstances, of the taxation implications of investing in the Funds.

Australian Taxation of Non-Resident Investors

Australian withholding tax may be withheld from distributions of Australian source income and gains paid or attributed to a non-resident investor. Based on the Fund’s investment profile, non-resident investors holding their units on capital account should not generally be subject to Australian capital gains tax on the disposal of units in a Fund unless the units were capital assets held by the investor in carrying on a business through a permanent establishment in Australia. Australian tax may apply in certain circumstances if the non-resident holds their units on revenue account

On 25 February 2016, Tax and Superannuation Laws Amendment (2015 Measures No 6) Act 2015 became law, introducing a new non-final withholding tax on the acquisition of certain taxable Australian property from foreign residents. The obligation applies to a transaction involving, for example, the acquisition of an indirect Australian real property interest, such as a membership interest in a ‘land-rich’ company or trust. On-market transactions however are excluded from the withholding regime. For contracts entered into on or after 1 July 2017, the non-final withholding tax rate is 12.5%.

The Responsible Entity recommends that non-resident investors seek independent tax advice in relation to these issues if required.

Tax File Numbers (TFN) and Australian Business Numbers (ABN)

It is not compulsory for an Australian investor to quote their TFN or ABN. If an Australian investor is making this investment in the course of a business or enterprise carried on by the investor, the investor may quote an ABN instead of a TFN. Failure by an investor to quote an ABN or TFN or claim an exemption may cause the Responsible Entity to withhold tax at the top marginal rate plus the Medicare Levy, on gross payments including distributions of income to the investor. The investor may be able to claim a credit in the investors' tax return for any TFN/ABN tax withheld. By quoting their TFN or ABN, the investor authorises the Responsible Entity to apply it in respect of all the investor's investments with the Responsible Entity. If the investor does not want to quote their TFN or ABN for some investments, the Responsible Entity should be advised.

Goods and Services Tax (GST)

The Funds are registered for GST. The issue or withdrawal of units in the Funds and where applicable the receipt of any distributions are not subject to GST.

The Funds may be required to pay GST included in management and other fees, charges, costs and expenses incurred by the Funds. However, to the extent permissible, the Responsible Entity will claim on behalf of the Funds a proportion of this GST as a reduced input tax credit.

Unless otherwise stated, fees and charges quoted in the PDS (including this Additional Information Booklet) are inclusive of GST and take into account any available reduced input tax credits.

To the extent that a Fund is investing in international securities, the Fund may be entitled to as yet undetermined additional input tax credit on the fees, charges or costs incurred. If the Responsible Entity is unable to claim input tax credits on and/or reduced input tax credits on behalf of a Fund, the Responsible Entity retains the ability to recover the entire GST component of all fees and charges.

Unitholders should seek professional advice with respect to the GST consequences arising from their unit holding.

8. How to apply

The following additional information should be read in conjunction with section 8 of each PDS:

Investor identification and verification

In making an application for units investors must provide and we must verify specified proofs of identity. Refer to the Client Account Manual and associated forms for further details of what identification is required.

The protection of your investments is an important matter. We have investor identification and verification procedures (ID Procedures) in place to manage risks associated with fraud and unauthorised transactions.

At times these procedures may cause inconvenience or delay to you. Please remember that the procedures are applied to safeguard your investments.

In addition, under Anti-Money Laundering and Counter Terrorism Financing legislation, we are required to establish and enforce appropriate risk control programs with accompanying ID Procedures. The procedures require investors to provide satisfactory proof of identity which must be verified before an application for units can be accepted. The ID Procedures may also require us, from time to time, to re-verify that information or request additional identification or related information from you, before we can process a requested transaction on your behalf.

As noted in section 7 'How managed investment schemes are taxed', the Responsible Entity may be required to request unitholders to provide additional information in order to comply with FATCA and CRS compliance obligations.

We do not accept any liability for any loss you may incur (whether by delay in acceptance of an application; transaction processing or otherwise), arising from the application of our ID Procedures.

If you invest in the Fund through a platform, you will need to comply with your platform operator's investor identification and verification procedures.

9. Other information

Our legal relationship with investors

The Fund's Constitution provides the framework for the operation of the Fund, and together with the PDS and the Corporations Act 2001, sets out our relationship with investors. A copy of the Fund's Constitution is available free of charge on request.

However, remember that when you invest through a platform you do not become an investor in the Fund.

Some of the provisions in the Fund's Constitution are discussed elsewhere in the PDS. Others relate to:

- how we must calculate unit prices
- our powers – which are very broad – and how and when we exercise them
- our ability to refuse transfers and applications
- calling, attending and voting at investor meetings
- when we are not liable to investors
- changing the Constitution
- when we can terminate the Fund or retire as responsible entity, and what happens if we do (if we terminate the Fund, investors share the net proceeds from us selling the underlying assets).

We are not liable for any loss unless we fail to comply with our duties under the Corporations Act 2001 and the Constitution. An investor's liability is limited by the Constitution to the value of their units however this position has not yet been fully tested in Australian courts.

We may change the terms of the PDS, but will notify investors of any material changes.

Compliance Plan and Compliance Committee

The Fund has a compliance plan which describes the measures that we undertake to ensure compliance with the Corporations Act 2001 and the Fund's Constitution. A Compliance Committee with a majority of independent members has been established by us to oversee compliance with the Fund's Constitution and the Corporations Act 2001.
