Fund Objective

To provide a total return, before costs and tax, higher than the Fund's benchmark over the long term by providing exposure to a diversified portfolio of predominantly global listed real estate securities largely hedged into New Zealand dollars.

Fund Update

Contributing to the Fund's outperformance was stock selection in Hong Kong; notably an ex-benchmark holding in developer ESR Group, which jumped more than 21% over the period. An overweight to Continental Europe also added value, including overweights to German residential real estate company Vonovia SE and Swedish logistics operator Catena AB. An underweight to the US office space and stock selection amongst US malls added further, albeit modest value in May. In terms of strategic factor positioning, our tilts toward quality and size contributed positively to performance over the period. In contrast, an overweight exposure to Japanese developers detracted from overall returns.
