

Multi-Asset Growth Strategy Fund

QUARTERLY COMMENTARY – 1st Quarter 2020

Highlights

Performance

The Fund (Class S) finished the first quarter of 2020 down 16.80% on an absolute basis.

- What worked – Government Bonds, Cash
- What didn't work – U.S. Small Cap Equity, Emerging Markets Equity, Commodities

Positioning

In the wake of extreme market volatility, the Fund seized the opportunity to increase overall equity exposure. The Fund still prefers exposure to non-U.S. equity markets but has added to U.S. equity exposure upon improved valuations that derived from the current market environment. Additionally, value stocks are preferred over growth stocks given the extreme valuation spread between the two.

Within fixed income, the Fund increased its allocation to high yield instruments, while reducing exposures to government and investment grade bonds. Widening credit spreads over the quarter provided a favorable outlook in high yield going forward.

Overall, the Fund's risk levels are slightly above long-term strategic levels due to tactical adjustments that increased risk in the wake of the sizable market sell-off during March.

‡ The Annual Net Operating Expense may be less than the Annual Total Operating Expense and represents the actual expenses expected to be borne by shareholders after application of: (a) a contractual cap and reimbursement on expenses through February 28, 2021. These contractual agreements may not be terminated during the relevant periods except at the Board of Trustee's discretion. Details of these agreements are in the current prospectus. Absent these reductions, the Fund's returns would have been lower.

About the Fund

Investment goal

The Fund seeks to achieve equity-like returns over the long term, but with a less volatile investing experience, particularly on the downside.

Fund highlights

- Broadly diversified to access multiple sources of return and limit the frequency and magnitude of portfolio declines
- Access to high conviction, third-party money managers who Russell Investments has researched and identified
- Dynamically managed for changing market conditions

Manager spotlight

Asset class: Fixed Income

Role: Mortgages/Opportunistic fixed income

What this manager brings to the Fund

Putnam brings two strategies to the Fund: a mortgage strategy and an opportunistic fixed income strategy. Putnam's mortgage strategy seeks to generate return by capturing yield and capital appreciation from investments in mortgage credit as well as by seeking opportunities in the more interest rate sensitive agency mortgage derivatives. These two styles of mortgage securities tend to diversify one another and lead to better risk-adjusted performance. Putnam will utilize derivatives to implement its investment strategy. Putnam's opportunistic fixed income strategy—which is a tail-risk hedging strategy against risk-off market events and subsequent flight to fixed income securities—is designed to benefit from increases in interest rate volatility.

Russell Investments' Manager Analysis

Putnam's mortgage strategy is managed by Michael Salm, co-Head of Fixed Income Investments. Mike also manages the opportunistic fixed income strategy, together with Matthew Walkup and James Wang, two macro strategists. Mike's knowledge of the agency derivatives markets and ability to express prepayment views therein are among the best in the markets. Russell Investments also believes Putnam's capabilities for rotating between prepayment sectors are elite in the traditional fixed income space and that Putnam has a good understanding of complementary risks in the securitized markets. Russell Investments views Michael as a thoughtful and experienced fixed income investor with in-depth knowledge in derivatives and volatility markets.

Important Information

Diversification and strategic asset allocation do not assure profit or protect against loss in declining markets. Mutual Fund investing involves risk. Principal loss is possible.

Morningstar World Allocation Category:

Index definitions: S&P 500 Index: Free-float capitalization-weighted index of the prices of 500 large-cap common stocks actively traded in the United States.

Investments in infrastructure-related companies have greater exposure to the potential adverse economic, regulatory, political and other changes affecting such entities. Investment in non-U.S. and emerging market securities is subject to the risk of currency fluctuations and to economic and political risks associated with such foreign countries.

Bond investors should carefully consider risks such as interest rate, credit, default and duration risks. Greater risk, such as increased volatility, limited liquidity, prepayment, non-payment and increased default risk, is inherent in portfolios that invest in high yield ("junk") bonds or mortgage-backed securities, especially mortgage-backed securities with exposure to sub-prime mortgages. Generally, when interest rates rise, prices of fixed income securities fall.

The Fund may invest in derivatives, including futures, options, forwards and swaps. Investments in derivatives may cause the Fund's losses to be greater than if it invests only in conventional securities and can cause the Fund to be more volatile. Derivatives involve risks different from, or possibly greater than, the risks associated with other investments.

Use of currency trading strategies may adversely impact a Fund's ability to meet its investment objective. Investments that are allocated across multiple types of securities may be exposed to a variety of risks based on the asset classes, investment styles, market sectors, and size of companies preferred by the investment managers. Investors should consider how the combined risks impact their total investment portfolio and understand that different risks can lead to varying financial consequences, including loss of principal. Please see a prospectus for further details.
