Performance Fees

0.01%

Management Fees and Costs: As a percentage of net assets. Includes management fee, indirect costs and expense recoveries. Reflects RIM's reasonable estimates of the typical fees for the current financial year. All costs reflect the actual amount incurred for previous financial year and may include RIM's reasonable estimates where information was not available or where RIM was unable to determine the exact amount. Refer to the PDS for further information.

Performance Fees: As a percentage of net assets. RIM does not charge a performance fee at the Fund level, however underlying funds and managers may charge a performance fee. This estimated fee is based on the average of actual performance fees incurred over the past 5 financial years. Refer to PDS for further information.

Fund Objective

To provide returns over the medium term, with moderate volatility, consistent with a diversified mix of defensive and growth oriented assets.

The Fund typically invests in a diversified portfolio mix with exposure to growth investments of around 50% and defensive investments of around 50%. Derivatives may be used to implement investment strategies. For detailed information on the Fund's ESG considerations, including applicable investment exclusions, refer to 'ESG considerations' in section 5 of the Additional Information Booklet that forms part of the Fund's Product Disclosure Statement, available at russellinvestments.com/au/RFA/investing.

Performance Review (%)

Period Ending 31/12/2024	1 month %	3 months %	1 year %	3 years %p.a.	5 years %p.a.	Since Inception %p.a.

Performance is not of fees and charges. Assumes reinvestment of income, Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future

The distribution return reflects income paid from the Fund, whilst the growth return reflects changes in the capital values of the assets.

Growth of $10,000

Fund Update

Within the Fund's global equity portfolio, the Russell Investments Tax Effective Global Shares Fund (TEGS) underperformed its benchmark over the period; though it did deliver strong absolute returns. Much of TEGS' underperformance was driven by stock selection in the US, including underweights to Tesla and Apple. Similarly, the Russell Investments Multi-Asset Factor Exposure Fund recorded positive absolute returns for the quarter but underperformed its benchmark. In terms of domestic equities, the Russell Investments Australian Shares Core Fund generated mildly positive benchmark-relative returns for the quarter; though absolute returns were negative. The Core Fund benefited from stock selection within the healthcare space, including an overweight to New Zealand's Fisher & Paykel Healthcare. In contrast, the Russell Investments Australian Opportunities Fund delivered both negative absolute and excess returns for the quarter, driven in part by stock selection within the materials space. Within our traditional fixed income portfolio, both the Russell Investments International Bond Fund - $A Hedged and the Russell Investments Australian Bond Fund generated negative absolute and benchmark-relative returns over the period. In terms of our extended fixed income exposure, Australian private credit manager Metrics Credit outperformed both cash and traditional fixed income assets. The Russell Investments Australian Floating Rate Fund also performed well. More broadly, our exposure to global listed infrastructure contributed positively to performance, while our global and Australian listed property holdings weighed on overall returns. Meantime, a weaker Australian dollar (relative to the US dollar) boosted the returns of the Fund's assets denominated in foreign currency.
