^This performance is net of management fees for both the Managed Portfolio and the underlying managers' fees and costs. It does not take into account any third party platform fees charged to individual investors or transaction costs (including buy/sell spreads and brokerage fees). It assumes income is reinvested without any tax deduction. It is for RIML's preferred model portfolio of holdings. A holding in the preferred model portfolio may be restricted or replaced with another similar asset in the Managed Portfolio on different platforms if the preferred holding is not available. Different platforms may also charge different management fees for the Managed Portfolio. This can result in variances in performance of the Managed Portfolio between platforms. An individual investor's performance will differ, according to the investor's actual exposures to Managed Portfolio holdings and other factors (including transaction timing, transaction costs, actual underlying manager fees and costs and whether income is paid in cash). Platforms will have their own methodology for calculating performance, at both a platform level and an individual investor level. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance.

Please contact your platform or adviser for details of your performance or current holdings in the Managed Portfolio.

Portfolio objective

The portfolio aims to provide returns over the short to medium term, with low volatility, consistent with a diversified mix of predominantly defensive assets and some growth-oriented assets. The portfolio aims to perform in line with the benchmark over the long term, after fees.

Main portfolio highlights

Traditional fixed income assets like government bonds were weaker for the quarter against a backdrop of rising yields, while corporate bonds were relatively flat. Higher bond yields also weighed on the portfolio's global and Australian listed property exposures. Both our global equities exposure and the direct Australian equity portfolio delivered positive returns over the period. Emerging markets were also stronger, outperforming their developed counterparts.

The direct Australian equity portfolio outperformed its benchmark, benefiting in part from an overweight exposure and positive stock selection within financials. This included an overweight to Bendigo and Adelaide Bank and an underweight to QBE Insurance. An underweight to the poor-performing real estate space also added value; though the portfolio did benefit from an overweight to industrial property giant Goodman Group. Stock selection within the healthcare sector added further value over the period; notably an overweight to New Zealand's Fisher & Paykel Healthcare, which climbed almost 20% for the quarter. In contrast, stock selection within the energy space detracted from overall performance. This included an overweight to Ampol and a nil exposure to Whitehaven Coal, which rose on the back of higher coal prices.

More broadly, global bonds were slightly weaker in the June quarter. Longer-term government bond yields rose (prices fell) over the period as investors continued to assess the outlook for interest rates. In the US, the Federal Reserve (Fed) left its benchmark fed funds rate on hold at a target range of between 5.25% and 5.50% throughout the quarter, with Chairman Jerome Powell reiterating his belief that current monetary policy is sufficiently restrictive to achieve the Bank's inflation goal. However, the Fed signalled that it expects to cut interest rates just once this year; two less than it projected back in March. European government bond yields climbed in response to a surge in support for far-right parties in the latest European Union parliamentary elections; particularly in France and Germany. This was enough to overshadow the European Central Bank's decision to cut interest rates in early June; the Bank lowering its main refinancing rate by 0.25% (to 4.25%). Meantime, both the Bank of England and the Bank of Japan left their respective policy rates unchanged. Global credit markets were weaker as spreads on high-yield and investment-grade debt widened. Australian bonds underperformed their global counterparts over the period, with the yield on domestic 10-year government debt rising as the odds of another RBA rate hike increased in the wake of a series of stronger-than-expected (monthly) inflation readings. Meanwhile, Australian credit markets were mildly positive for the quarter, with spreads narrowing slightly throughout the period.

Global share markets made only modest gains during the quarter, while Australian shares were weaker.

There were no material positional changes over the period.

Long-term investing: Positioning for 5 years and beyond

The portfolio has a long-term asset allocation of 30% to growth assets. Growth asset valuations have increased year to date but are below pre-pandemic levels. Long-term, forward-looking return expectations for US shares and high-yield debt have moderated. The economic outlook creates uncertainty in the near term, however in the long term, growth assets are still preferred due to superior returns relative to defensive assets.

Defensive assets such as fixed income and cash have an allocation of 70% in the portfolio. A tilt toward credit further enhances the long-term return potential, but also increases the risk of losses. Credit spreads have narrowed and are near their long-term averages. Government bonds are cheap across some markets and are now offering much higher yields than at the beginning of 2022.

Strategically, the portfolio has positions in cheaper and higher momentum securities per our research.
