

Russell Investments Managed Portfolio - High Growth

The portfolio returned 3.90%[^] in July. Both the Russell Investments Global Opportunities Fund and our direct Australian equity portfolio generated positive absolute and benchmark-relative performance over the period.

Portfolio objective

To provide capital growth over the long term consistent with a portfolio focusing solely on growth assets, while accepting fluctuations in capital values in the medium term.

Portfolio strategy

The portfolio is a dynamic cost-effective multi-asset portfolio with approximately 98% growth assets and 2% defensive assets. The focus for this portfolio is to provide long-term returns and to manage investment risks over time.

Growth of $10,000

Main market highlights

Global share markets performed well in July. Much of the gains continued to be driven by inflation outcomes and central bank activity. In the US, the Federal Reserve (Fed) left its benchmark fed funds rate on hold at a target range of between 5.25% and 5.50% following its latest gathering, with Chairman Jerome Powell acknowledging that officials now had greater confidence that inflation will meet their 2.0% target. The latest figures showed headline inflation in the US rose 3.0% in the 12 months to 30 June, which was down on the 3.3% gain we saw in May. Core inflation slowed from 3.4% to 3.3%. For some time, Powell has said the Fed wouldn't cut interest rates until it was confident inflation was moving sustainably toward its target. Armed with these latest figures, he conceded that if inflation remains on its current path, then a reduction in interest rates could be on the table as soon as the Bank's next meeting in September. Meantime, the Bank of Japan unexpectedly raised interest rates again in July, while the Bank of England delivered its first rate cut in more than four years in early August. The European Central Bank left its main refinancing rate on hold. Australian shares made strong gains over the period, driven largely by better-than-expected June quarter inflation data.

Both global and domestic bonds recorded good gains for the month.

Long-term investing: Positioning for 5 years and beyond

The portfolio has a long-term asset allocation of 98% to return generating assets. Growth asset valuations have increased year to date but are below pre-pandemic levels. Long-term, forward-looking return expectations for US shares and high-yield debt have moderated. The economic outlook creates uncertainty in the near term, however in the long term, growth assets are still preferred due to superior returns relative to defensive assets.

Strategically, the portfolio has positions in cheaper and higher momentum securities as per our researched beliefs.

There is a cash allocation of 2% in the portfolio.

It does not take into account any third party platform fees charged to individual investors or transaction costs (including buy/sell spreads and brokerage fees). It assumes income is reinvested without any tax deduction. It is for RIML's preferred model portfolio of holdings. A holding in the preferred model portfolio may be restricted or replaced with another similar asset in the Managed Portfolio on different platforms if the preferred holding is not available. Different platforms may also charge different management fees for the Managed Portfolio. This can result in variances in performance of the Managed Portfolio between platforms. An individual investor's performance will differ, according to the investor's actual exposures to Managed Portfolio holdings and other factors (including transaction timing, transaction costs, actual underlying manager fees and costs and whether income is paid in cash). Platforms will have their own methodology for calculating performance, at both a platform level and an individual investor level. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance.

Country Exposure

Portfolio Date: 31/07/2024

Main portfolio highlights

The direct Australian equity portfolio outperformed its benchmark, benefiting in part from an overweight exposure and positive stock selection within financials. This included overweights to QBE Insurance and Bendigo and Adelaide Bank. An overweight exposure and positive stock selection within the consumer discretionary sector also added value; notably an overweight to electronics retailer JB Hi-Fi and an underweight to The Lottery Corporation. Stock selection amongst materials also contributed positively to performance over the period, including an underweight to diversified miner South32. In contrast, stock selection within the real estate space detracted from overall returns in July, including an overweight to industrial property giant Goodman Group.

In terms of global equity managers, Japan equity specialist Nissay Asset Management significantly outperformed its benchmark, driven in part by overweights to Toho Gas Co., heavy industry manufacturer IHI Corp. and Hino Motors. An underweight to Toyota Motor added further value. US value manager Brandywine also outperformed, benefiting from a material underweight to the US technology space; notably Microsoft and chip maker NVIDIA. In contrast, emerging markets specialist Redwheel (formerly RWC Partners) underperformed its benchmark, hurt in part by overweight exposures to South Korean car makers Kia and Hyundai Motor Co.

With regard to Australian equity managers, the Russell Investments Australian Opportunities Fund (RAOF) underperformed the benchmark. Within RAOF, Ausbil underperformed its benchmark, driven in part by overweights to utilities stocks Origin Energy and AGL Energy. Platypus and Allan Gray also underperformed; the former impacted by overweights to WiseTech Global and data center operator NextDC. In contrast, L1 Capital's Catalyst strategy outperformed its benchmark over the period, benefiting from overweights to national carrier Qantas, construction company Downer EDI and BlueScope Steel.

During the month, we reduced the portfolio's allocation to Australian real estate investment trusts (A-REITs) in favour of global real estate investment trusts (G-REITs). G-REITs have not only underperformed A-REITs but also the broader global equity market. As a result, we believe G-REITs offer better value. G-REITs also provide greater diversification benefits, with the global listed property market comprising more than 300 constituents compared to just 33 in Australia.

Overall, the managed portfolio is aligned with its long-term asset allocation as we wait patiently for opportunities.

Dynamic positioning: Managing positions over the next 12-18 months

The US economy has to date proven remarkably resilient, and markets are pricing in a 'soft landing' as inflationary pressures continue to ease and unemployment remains low; though we have begun to see some softening in the labour market. This has contributed to strong equity and credit market returns, with valuations now appearing stretched. We're seeing several leading economic indicators that suggest caution is still warranted. As a result, we believe recessionary risks in the US are elevated; though the risk has reduced gradually as continued migration has allowed inflation to moderate without materially impacting the labour market. The key question now is how long will it take for core inflation to settle closer to the Fed's target? Fears that US monetary policy will remain too restrictive for too long have softened due to the recent decline in core inflation, however until we see core inflation reach the Fed's target, markets may remain volatile.

We retain the same themes as recent months, i.e. a preference for less expensive equity markets versus US equities and peer-relative overweights to global small caps and the value factor.
